Haley Helms is driven by the belief that family law offers the opportunity to make a real and lasting impact in people's lives. Whether guiding a client through divorce or fighting for protection in a domestic violence case, she provides steady, empathetic, and honest counsel to help clients navigate incredibly personal transitions with clarity and confidence.

"I don't just want to handle a legal matter and move on. I want to help my clients feel empowered and equipped for whatever comes next."

Clients value Haley's proactive communication style, her ability to genuinely listen, and her commitment to helping them see the bigger picture. She is especially passionate about working with survivors of domestic violence, where she feels her legal skills can provide immediate safety and long-term stability.

Haley handles a wide range of family law matters, including divorce, child custody, parenting plans, and legal separation. She brings consistency, compassion, and candor to every case, ensuring that her clients feel heard, respected, and well-supported throughout the legal process.

Originally from Suffolk, Virginia, Haley earned her law degree from Regent University School of Law, where she was recognized with several academic honors. Outside of her practice, she enjoys exploring the natural beauty of the Pacific Northwest, hiking local trails, and singing—a lifelong passion that began in church choirs and continued with a cappella groups in college.

"I personally felt that everyone involved in the case actually cared and enjoyed their job and were fighting for my rights. They definitely felt like family and treated me so."
