When the stakes and emotions are high in a family law case, Nathan Julius calmly stands by his clients. He helps them understand their options and make fully informed, high-quality decisions that will move their lives forward.

Said one client: "Nathan explained the issues clearly, and most importantly, in a way that was easy to comprehend. What also sets him apart is his genuine care for clients and desire to help others to the fullest extent."

Nathan is an accomplished trial attorney with a strong history of litigation success. Nevertheless, he strives to resolve cases in a manner that is the least stressful for his client, often through pre-trial settlement.

He places high value on maintaining effective communication and working relationships with all parties and professionals involved in the divorce process.

"You can be a strong advocate for your client while also exuding kindness. Being respectful and professional toward the opposing party gets you more than being combative."

A former bankruptcy attorney, Nathan understands how powerful it is when people get a fresh start. He has a unique understanding of the special issues families face when involved in a bankruptcy proceeding or dividing debt during the divorce process.

Known for his fun-loving personality and sense of humor, Nathan is always happy to have an interesting conversation or may spontaneously burst into song. He enjoys pop culture, movies, concerts, traveling the world, and taking walks with his spouse and their Corgis, Paige and Cooper.

"Nathan was great! He took the time to learn about my unique situation and helped explain the why, when, and how every step of the way. If I had questions he had answers or found them and promptly communicated with me."

"Nathan has been wonderful handling my legal separation/divorce. Through a very stressful situation he's been a fantastic listener, great with strategy, totally on top of all aspects of the case and excellent at keeping me informed and my case on track. I've already referred a friend to him for representation and would highly recommend him to anyone as both a top notch attorney and compassionate human being."
