As a child of divorce herself, Hillary Roberts-Griffith identifies with her clients' circumstances on the most personal level, and understands the profound effects that divorce has on a family.

"I want my clients to know that I genuinely care. I care about their lives, their goals, and their children, and I want them to come through the divorce process in the best emotional and financial health possible."

With a master's degree in English Language and Literature, Hillary is a persuasive writer and articulate speaker. Whether through her legal writing or in court argument, she embraces the power of language to help her clients share their unique stories, and ensures that their position is clearly asserted and validated.

"I love telling people's stories. It is so rewarding when my client reads a declaration I have written or listens to my courtroom argument and later tells me, 'that's exactly what I wanted to say.'"

With her strategic approach to cases, Hillary stands prepared to handle cases no matter what direction they take. She's a tenacious advocate who, skilled in high-conflict litigation, thrives in the courtroom. However, she is also resourceful in finding creative solutions to avoid litigation, thereby eliminating the stress of trial.

Hillary is a mixed media artist who has displayed her artwork publicly. She enjoys taking spin classes, spending time with her nephews, and hiking with her spaniels, Muppet and Pickle.

"I have relied and depended on Hillary for life-changing legal advice. Hillary fought for, and came up with smart and practical resolutions that met my goals and protected my best interests."

"Hillary has fought and is continuing to fight hard for my case. She's extremely diligent and logical, she fights for what's best in the situation and is compassionate and understanding. She does her job well and fights whole heartedly for her clients. In such a trying and hard time she's been the light that I needed. She's reassuring and affirmative. I would recommend her a thousand times over."
